

CASA Blacksmithing Course!

Thanks to a grant from the Ironmongers Company, we are running a free, hands-on blacksmithing course for young autistic people aged 16-25. The course will be led by Arian Leljak at his teaching forge at Cranham. The workshops will focus on hands-on forging, with the aim of nurturing creative thinking, problem solving and social confidence, as well as practical skills and artistic expression.

The course will consist of eight 2-hour weekly sessions from Thursday 4th September to Thursday 23rd October, and will be linked to the Earth Fire Iron exhibition running at Stroud Museum. Help with transport to Cranham will be available from Central Gloucester. Places are limited - to apply for this very special opportunity, please contact the CASA team by 31st July.
